AWE-INSPIRING, INFAMOUS WILDLIFE

It is here, at Duba, that you will witness just why this area is so renowned for its wildlife and action. No boundaries are set when it comes to absorbing this beauty, no limit to what you will take away - from lion and buffalo, to a stunning array of birdlife. This is raw nature as best intended for you to immerse.

The area, in Northern Botswana on a 77,000-acre private concession in the Okavango Delta, was made famous for its Lion & Buffalo interactions, as captured in Dereck & Beverly Joubert's wildlife documentary 'Relentless Enemies'.

DUBA PLAINS CAMP | OKAVANGO DELTA

4 NIGHTS

WAIT! ... WHERE'S DUBA PLAINS?

Great Plains Conservation (owners of Duba and overseen by Dereck & Beverly Joubert) are to completely rehabilitate the current site of Duba Plains Camp. They will take it down to nothing, remove all the remnants of 20 years of old materials, systematically walk and select a perfect new location, sightlines and orientations for a new Duba Plains Camp that will see each tent as a bespoke and unique design.

Duba Expedition Camp is merely a kilometre away from Duba Plains, located on a private 77,000-acre concession run by the Okavango Community Trust and leased to Great Plains Conservation, the word "remote" could not be more relevant than here, a place only accessible by plane for most of the year, thanks to Botswana's Okavango Delta seasonal floods.

ACCOMMODATION

A BRAND NEW CAMP FOR YOU

Duba Expedition Camp is up of six tents under light cotton canvas, each with en-suite facilities and larger guest sleeping areas than what presently is at Duba Plains Camp. The new site is set on the banks of a floodplain and river just 1 km away from the present camp, with easy access to water based activities and the main island where our guides spend most of their game viewing drives now.

This is "home" for Great Plains Conservation co-founders, and National Geographic Explorers in Residence, Dereck and Beverly Joubert and the remarkable, ever-present lions whose story they have so wonderfully documented over the years.

This fixed-base camp has tents powered by solar, inverter and battery systems, which will supply lights, fans and charging facilities for cameras, etc. The main area is a large, relaxed combination of dining and lounge tents, and the kitchen is designed and laid out by our executive chef, Pierre van Zyl.

Each tent also includes one pair of Swarovski HD binoculars for complimentary use.

ACTIVITIES

Early morning and late afternoon/early evening game drives in an open 4x4 vehicle and boat-based activities when water levels permit.

TREES FOR CHANGE | GIVING BACK

As part of our commitment to bringing about positive change within communities, Captured In Africa have teamed up with Great Plains Conservation 'Trees for Change' initiative, whereby our guests can opt to buy an indigenous sapling to be planted by a Great Plains representatives with community members in Seronga or Gudigwa.

Baobabs or Sausage trees are recommended, as when grown, they will create much needed shade and natural biodiversity within these villages.

Our team will provide you with more information about this beautiful project on booking, where you will get the opportunity to 'Buy a Tree for Change'!
